Principal's Letter

Dear Friends,

As the school year comes to a close, our minds and hearts are filled to the brim. It's been a great year! What a school! Together we celebrated academic achievement and athletic excellence, enjoyed artistic presentations and theatrical productions, explored new interests and made new friends.

We've learned much and shared experiences that will long remain with us. The strength of our community and wholehearted passion to make our school a wonderful place of learning for our students primarily, but for all of us too, makes AC a truly a special place.

50! We celebrated our fiftieth graduating class in May. This is a huge milestone for our school. Thank you to all the alumni from our first graduating class who attended our ceremony. It was hard to tell who was more excited, the Class of '64 or the Class of '14.

We also celebrated our school's history in March when we renovated Founder's Hall, dedicating the school Chapel to Monsignor O'Gorman and debuting a display recognizing the important work of the Sisters of Saint Joseph. This permanent recognition to those who built our school is now open for all to see. Please stop by to take a look.

The students at this school make me proud. And the community at large adds to that pride. We have so many students, parents, past parents, alumni and friends who support AC and help to spread the word about how great it is to be a Cougar. Keep the cheers and praise coming – we love to hear from you.

Congratulations to all of our graduates! Good luck in your future endeavors and please stay in touch.

We look forward to welcoming back our current students and helping orient the new ones in September, but until then, enjoy a restful and replenishing summer with your families.

Warm regards,

Stephen Biagioni, Principal

Class of 2014 Commends...

VALEDICTORIAN

Allen Judd

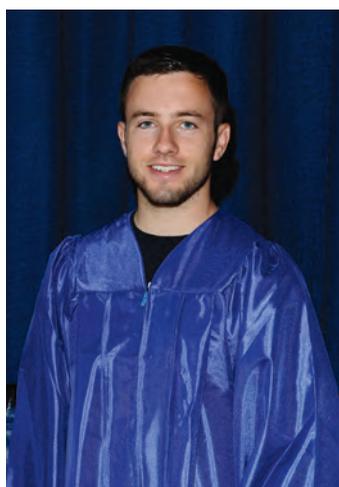

Allen Judd, the Valedictorian for the Class of 2014, has consistently proven to be a top student who has talent in many other areas. Allen's near-flawless transcript, which includes nine Advanced Placement courses, and membership in the National Honor Society reflect his dedication to his school work. Allen has been a member of the Soccer, Cross Country, Indoor Track and Tennis teams at AC; serving as tennis captain since he was a sophomore and earning CCL All-Star and MVP Awards in tennis as well. He is also a member of the Science Team, Model UN, SADD, and was a member of the 2014 Yearbook staff. Allen was recognized for numerous awards at the awards ceremony, including medals in National Latin and Roman exams, and for being a National Merit Commended Student. Allen intends to study at Harvard University in the fall.

Allen's Commencement Address began with the mindset that everything in the universe is connected to everything else and that communities are "held together by the intense bonds" between the members of the community. Allen reminded the students that they are a vital part of many communities- Arlington Catholic, their families, and the wider world. Reflecting on the time he spent in Camden, New Jersey with the Humanitarian Club, we were reminded that small acts, even in seemingly hopeless situations, can have a tremendous impact. Allen concluded by challenging his classmates to, "go out there, meet and bond, treat everyone as though they are siblings, make the world a family, one that we can be proud of, one that we can support and help grow."

SALUTATORIAN

Connor O'Brien

Connor O'Brien, the Salutatorian for the Class of 2014, has maintained an excellent academic record while also participating in many aspects of high school life. Connor was a member of many clubs at AC: the National Honor Society Spanish National Honor Society; the Model United Nations; and Spanish/World Language Club to name a few. Like Allen, Connor was also a National Merit Commended Student. He was also elected by his peers to the Student Senate three times and served as a junior class representative. Connor also excelled on the athletic field, playing Football, Indoor Track, Soccer and Rugby, where he was the captain of the team, during his high school career. Connor plans on attending Georgetown University in the fall.

Connor's Commencement Address reminded his classmates that high school, while not like pictured in movies or on television, is a community where they have all shared much and grown together over the last four years. "We live in historic times," he explained, reflecting on all that has happened in the past four years and as the 50th graduating class of the school. His closing thought, "We have the ability to shape our world into the kind of world we want to be a part of. With a class as unique and talented as ours, I know that we will make history," reminded all of the potential we all have to shape the world into a better place by using our own special gifts and talents.

SISTER MELANIA AWARD

Hannah Doyon

Hannah Doyon is the recipient of the Sister Melania Award, named for the first principal of AC and given to the graduating girl who the faculty feels demonstrates school loyalty, character, service, achievement and leadership.

Hannah is a confident young woman who has been a valued member of the AC community. Hannah has been very involved for her entire time at AC. She has been a four-year member of the following clubs: French/World Language Club; Drama, where she serves as an officer; and SADD, where she currently serves as President. Hannah has also been elected to the Student Senate, serves as the Vice-President of the senior class and is a member of the National Honor Society. She has also been an Ice Hockey Cheerleader and taken dance, singing and acting lessons outside of school.

Hannah will be attending Marymount Manhattan College in the fall where we are confident she will continue to excel.

MSGR. O'GORMAN AWARD

Luke Amato

Luke Amato is the recipient of the Msgr. O'Gorman Award, named for the pastor of St. Agnes Parish when AC first opened and given to the graduating boy who the faculty feels possesses the same characteristics as the winner of the Sister Melania Award.

Luke has made many contributions to life at Arlington Catholic over the past four years, in and out of the classroom. He played Varsity Lacrosse and Soccer all four years, serving as captain of each sport during his senior year. In addition, he played two seasons of hockey as well. Luke is a member of the National Honor Society and the French National Honor Society; is involved in Campus Ministry; was President of the junior class; and is a four-year member and current President of the French/World Language Club.

Luke is beyond a doubt a student who has been a pleasure to have had as part of the AC community. He will be attending The United States Air Force Academy in the fall and we wish him continued success with the knowledge that he will make a positive impact there as well.

SISTER CATHERINE CLIFFORD TRIBUTE AWARD

Michael Santoro

Michael Santoro has been chosen to receive the Sister Catherine Clifford Tribute Award. Funded by the faculty, who also selects the recipient, the award is given to the student who best represents the motto of the long-time principal, "Act justly, love tenderly, walk humbly with your God."

Michael has been very involved in the life of AC since his freshman year. He is a member of the National Honor Society and the French National Honor Society; has served on the Student Senate for three years, currently as President; is currently the Vice-President and four-year member of the French/World Language Club; and is also a four-year member of SADD. Michael is also very involved in AC's Drama Club, AC/DC. He is currently the Vice-President of the Club and has participated in every production during his four years at AC.

Michael will be attending Merrimack College in the fall where we know he will continue to uphold Sister Cathy's motto.

MSGR. LINNEHAN AWARD

Michael Bonetti

Michael Bonetti has been chosen to receive the Msgr. Linnehan Award, named for the long-time pastor of St. Agnes. Funded by the faculty who also selects the recipient, the winner is someone they feel has made a difference at the school, who lives his or her faith, and who is generous, sincere, caring and dependable.

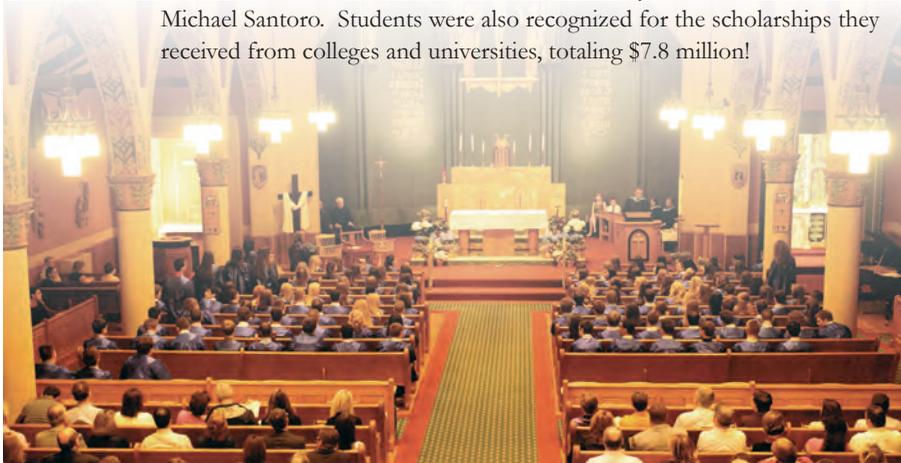

Michael is a well-rounded student who has enlivened AC with his unique personality for the past four years. His transcript reflects the taking on of an increasingly challenging schedule in order to push himself. He is a four year member of the Model United Nations and Spanish/World Language Club as well as a member of the Campus Ministry Club. He assists at school Masses and has frequently attended the TV Mass as well. He is also a member of the Spanish National Honor Society. Outside of school he is very involved in the St. Anthony's Society of Boston and St. Leonard's Parish in the North End where he provides a great deal of assistance.

We wish Michael well at Suffolk University in the fall where we know he will be an asset to their school as well.

Baccalaureate Mass & Awards Ceremony

On Wednesday, May 21, the Arlington Catholic High School community gathered to celebrate Mass and the achievements of the Class of 2014.

Fifty-one students received cords for being members of the National Honor Society and another 42 received cords for being members of the French and Spanish National Honor Societies. Luke Amato was presented with an appointment to the United States Air Force Academy, which is the equivalent of a full four-year scholarship. Three students were recognized as National Merit Commended students – Allen Judd, Connor O’Brien and Michael Kumar. Five students achieved perfect attendance all four years – Luke Amato, Michael Kumar, Sean McElhinney, Mark McGowan, and Michael Santoro. Students were also recognized for the scholarships they received from colleges and universities, totaling $7.8 million!

Senior Parent Social

On February 6th, the members of the AC graduating class of 2014 and their parents gathered in the Arlington Catholic gymnasium for the annual Senior Parent Social. The night was highlighted by Hypnotist Extraordinaire Tommy Vee, who wowed the crowd as he persuaded, through hypnosis, select students and parents to do some pretty wild stunts. Senior Monica Galluccio showed off her dance moves, and the audience learned that Nick Makhlouta does not like it when people cut him off on the road. After the show, parents and students gathered for refreshments provided by the Senior Class Officers and their parents.

Senior Class Day

The class of 2014's graduation week kicked off with a successful class day on Monday, May 19th at the AC Turf Field. Members of the senior class gathered for a fun day in the sun, which included competitions and plenty of food from grill-master, Mr. Rabbitt! Class President Presley Silva and Vice President Hannah Doyon organized fun events for their classmates, including relay races and a water balloon toss. Connor Donovan won the "MVP Basket" for the day, winning the water balloon toss with partner Haleigh Butler and three of the five relay races with partner Billy Barrett.

Yearbook Ceremony

The final class day for Seniors, May 14th, ended with the annual Yearbook Ceremony. President of the Class of 2014, Presley Silva '14, began the ceremony by thanking the yearbook staff for their efforts in creating this year's book. Co-Editors in Chief, Sarah Hanley '14 and Monica Schweizer '14 announced the dedication to fellow classmate, Molly Lucey, for her 'strength, courage and dedication' in overcoming her health issues over the past year. Congratulations Molly and thank you for inspiring your classmates!

Commencement

On Friday, May 23rd, just under 2,000 people came together at the Dana Athletic Center at Bentley University to celebrate the Class of 2014. In addition to the Class of 2014, we also celebrated the Class of 1964. The Class of 64 was AC's first graduating class and were invited to lead the students in the procession.

Principal Stephen Biagioni began the afternoon, welcoming family and friends of the graduates; this was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Hannah Doyon, Senior Class Vice President. Following an invocation, led by Pastor Father Brian Flatley, Presley Silva shared opening remarks with the audience. Salutatorian, Connor O'Brien took the stage and reflected on the past four years. Allen Judd, the Valedictorian, talked about the bonds that we all share. Serge Clivio '13 returned to commencement to lead us in song.

John Carroll, a member of the Class of 1964 served as Commencement Speaker, offering sage advice to the Class of 2014. John was the first student president at Arlington Catholic High School as well as the first Football Captain at AC, along with his classmates, Steve Boeri '64 and Joe Beasley '64. After leaving AC, John went on to receive a BA from Boston College, where he played on the football team for two years. He then served on active duty in the US Navy until 1971, and on reserve duty until 1976. During that time, he received a JD from Boston University School of Law. John has been a trial lawyer since passing the Bar in 1974. He became a lawyer so that he could help people. At the beginning of his career, he worked on the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian Reservations as a staff attorney and considered that experience "life-altering." Because of that experience, and his twenty years of Catholic education, John has continued to use his skills to help people through pro-bono work through the Boston Bar Association's Volunteer Lawyers Project and the Catholic Lawyers Guild's Saint Francis House. He is also on the Board of Directors of Greater Boston Legal Services and a part of the Massachusetts Bar Association's Judicial Administration Section Council and Individual Rights and Responsibilities Section Council.

In 2008, John received the President's Award from the Massachusetts Bar Foundation. In 2010, he became the MBA's representative on the Equal Justice Coalition and currently serves as the Chair. He is a lawyer member of the Commission of Judicial Conduct. He has also been named a “Super Lawyer” by his peers several years in a row.

John’s Commencement Address recognized the pioneering work of Monsignor Oscar O’Gorman and the Sisters of Saint Joseph as well as the hard work of the Class of 2014, recognizing many of their accomplishments.

Following John’s address to the audience, the students received their diplomas, and Principal Steve Biagioni’s commissioning of graduates ended another successful graduation here at Arlington Catholic.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER EXCERPT by John Carroll

Such a humbling and joyful honor – yet I am mindful of my place. The most memorable commencement speaker I ever recall was Queen Noor of Jordan, who addressed the BC commencement in the mid-nineties. She said, “A commencement speaker is a bit like the corpse at a wake. Everyone expects to see one but no one expects to hear much.” I know my place is a brief interlude between the honors and the celebration, so I will be brief.

You are the blossoming of seeds planted 50 years ago. The sower of these seeds was Monsignor Oscar O’Gorman. Emerson once said that every significant institution is but the lengthened shadow of just one man. All that AC has come to be is attributable to the vision of Msgr. O’Gorman.

As an altar boy at St. Agnes and ACH for 6 years, I had the privilege of knowing him better than some. He was gruff and blunt. But he was a far-seeing, benevolent soul, with a superb intellect (Harvard Grad), and a superb administrator. In 1960, reputedly, St. Agnes was the 2nd largest and one of the most prosperous parishes in the Archdiocese

(so much so that St. Eulalias was carved out of it in 1966). Cardinal Cushing was an annual visitor. He knew where the money was. Msgr. O’Gorman raised much money for the Cardinal’s various charities.

During Msgr. O’Gorman’s tenure he founded Fidelity House – a stroke of genius as the baby boom was producing kids at a rate not seen before or since. He gave them a place to romp safely.

He was the moving force in the establishment of ACH in 1960. He staffed it with the best nuns the sisters of St. Joseph’s had: Melania, Corita, Marie De Lourdes, Mary, Agnes, Francis Agnes, Madelaine Marie, Joseph Marie, Ethelwald and Ronan, to name but a few. And of course, our first chaplains: Fathers Casey and Bullock.

He hired the best coaches: Dick Broderick in basketball and baseball, Bill Formosi in football, Jack Carney in hockey.

And he set a high standard for admissions. We were the first class, and, for four years the most senior class. We were few (142) and together for a long time. That experience forged bonds of a lifetime. We were pampered and pushed and the unspoken expectation was that we were seedlings that, over time, would yield a rich harvest.

As grapes are not gathered from thorn bushes, or figs from thistles, by their fruits you will know them. And, I will add, you will know their seed. We were the seedlings, you are the fruit. By your accomplishments, and those of the 48 classes in between, you fulfill the expectations the founder had for all of us. Would that Monsignor O’Gorman and the first staff were present to look out over the rich harvest I see today.

We all are the lucky few. Our family, our faith and our teachers have instilled values above and beyond mere knowledge: gratitude, compassion and love. They have given us the credentials to make a material living in life – but the ones who make a true difference in the world are not the ones with the credentials, but the ones with the concern for others. You have both.

Thank you for giving us a place of honor at your commencement. I leave you with a Franciscan blessing: May God bless you with the foolishness to think you can make a difference in the world, so you will do things which others tell you cannot be done.

Congratulations, well done, now go celebrate!

Faculty v. Seniors Hoops

The fifth annual Faculty-Senior basketball game was played on March 7th, a grand finale to Spirit Week! It was standing room only in the AC gym, as the student body came out in full force to cheer on the senior class. The seniors could not reclaim the trophy, however, as the faculty rallied behind their coach, Mr. Muse, and won for the fourth time. Mr. Blanchette and Mr. Zalaski led the way for the faculty, while seniors Kyle Bairos and Courtney Casey tried to keep the game close for the senior class.

There's an App for that...

Arlington Catholic implements new program for technology in the classroom.

Arlington Catholic recognizes that our students live in a digital world and that we have an obligation to help students learn to use that digital technology properly as part of the learning process. With this in mind, we have made the decision to incorporate iPads in the classroom to integrate digital experiences into the curriculum with the goal of enhancing student learning through the use of technology as an educational tool. We plan to enhance and heighten the learning experiences of our students, in and out of the classroom. Even though there are many choices for devices, AC decided that the iPad was the best decision for what we hope to accomplish. Students will have the option of bringing their own iPad next year, with all students being required to have a device in the 2015-2016 school year.

By incorporating digital literacy into the curriculum, students will be better prepared for life-long learning outside of school. Teachers envision greater student collaboration on projects and more in-depth research using the internet; skills that will serve students well in their lives. Students will have the ability to download many textbooks to their iPad, making greater use of their texts in class while also having the ability to link to a variety of supplemental resources right from the text. The value of having all of a student's notes with them at all times will also keep them more organized and productive in class.

Use of iPads, both those provided on school carts and student's own devices, promise to keep us and our students on the cutting edge while maintaining the solid academic base that has made Arlington Catholic so successful academically for the past 50 plus years.

"Using the iPad in the classroom makes lessons more interactive. The learning process is fun so you get more out of the activity."

– Olivia Scioletti '15

"Using the iPads as a portable language lab has been tremendously valuable to our students and will be even better when students have their own devices."

– Kathy Grugan, World Language Department Chairperson

"Learning to use the internet appropriately for the learning process is something that children can struggle with. I am glad to see that AC is helping students to understand this."

– AC Parent

"Technology can help meet the needs of students' different paces, intelligences, and learning styles. iPads in the classroom can be used to do research, organize coursework, collaborate with students and teachers, and complete assignments. These educational changes will provide students with the tools to access learning anywhere, anytime. This plan will integrate digital experiences into the curriculum with the goal of enhancing student learning through the use of technology as an educational tool. Using the iPad to study and do research feels like the way it was always supposed to be done. I almost wish I could go to high school again and experience it with an iPad!"

– Alum Jessica Galliani '06 of CCA Technology Solutions, AC's technology consultants

"I am so excited about not having to carry so many books around and doing research in my classes."

– Incoming freshman

NHS Duct Tape Fundraiser

This past March, National Honor Society members held a fundraiser to benefit the Dempster Fund. However, this was no ordinary fundraiser. Our creative NHS members thought of an idea that would surely draw interest from students: duct taping a teacher to the wall. During lunch, students bought pieces of duct tape to tape Mr. Zalaski to the wall in the cafeteria. Mr. Zalaski stood on a chair while crowds of students securely stuck him to the wall and eagerly snapped a few pictures to tweet. At the end of lunch, the chair was removed and he remained suspended due to the dozens of pieces of duct tape that students purchased. Thank you to the NHS members who organized this fun event. Thank you especially to Mr. Zalaski for volunteering and making the fundraiser a memorable one. The fundraiser was a huge success and we hope that more teachers will volunteer for future duct tape fundraisers.

Science Team

The Science Team finished in third place (out of 27 schools) in the North Shore Science League this year. This is the best finish in team history. Team members include seniors Allen Judd, Richard Cameron, Fariha Ahmed, Monica Schweizer, Leo Han, Tony Gao, Alex Plowden, Anabel Carmona, Hexi Xiao, and Connor O'Brien; juniors Brian Hart, Kenny Fong, Patrick Taing, Yoo Jung Hah, and Tim Chung; and sophomores Conor Meehan, Nancy Huang, Valerie O'Loughlin, Ben Caron, Dan Caron, Laura Caron, and Monique Pinto.

Physics Project

The winners of this year's physics catapult contest are Tommy Clair, Nasi Nikolopoulos, and Richard Cameron.

Ping Pong Team

During the fall, one of the freshmen students Hanwen Gu, (Nello) who is here studying here from China, asked if AC had a table tennis team. Nello said he was aware that Americans played informally but he and his friends miss playing and wish they had a team or a club here. When this idea was brought to administration, they were in complete support and ordered two tables. Now there is an official Ping Pong Club at AC. With the help from Will Dynan, Nello and Justin Geneus, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Kiernan have been facilitating a weekly after school ping-pong club on Thursday afternoons. This club is well attended by a diverse group of students. It is a fun, yet competitive environment that offers another activity for students after school

French and Spanish Honor Society

Arlington Catholic High School is pleased to have chapters of the Société Honoraire de Français (French Honor Society) and the Sociedad Honoraria Hispánica (Spanish Honor Society), national organizations under the auspices of the American Association of Teachers of French and the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese. In order to be inducted into these honor societies, students must have maintained a minimum of an A- average in French or Spanish for at least six quarters, be enrolled in level four or higher of French or Spanish, have an average of B- or better in their other subjects, and demonstrate good conduct and character. Students receive a certificate and an honor cord to wear at graduation.

Then, the Latin 2, 3, and AP classes took the Classical Scholarship Exam given for the first time this year. This test would normally be challenging for a college curriculum with perhaps even graduate level questions on it. Two seniors, Monica Galluccio and Allen Judd, both received Bronze Medals as well as Certificates of Merit attesting to their prowess.

Toga Party

Again this year, Latin students celebrated their Toga Party letting off steam after taking the National Latin Exam. Garbed in the fashion of Roman Citizens, they were judged for their originality and creativity. The judging panel was made up of Mr. Biagioni, Mr. DeLorenzo, and Mrs. Lally. Two females and two males were selected. They were Margaret Gillis, Jane Wakefield, Michael McGinnity, and Kenneth Fong.

In addition, members of the Classics Club displayed a number of inventive and, in some cases, unusual projects. The winners were Karmen Lu for her reconstruction of a Roman catapult and a collaborative production of the Trojan Horse by John Peer, Nolan McIsaac, and Samuel Jennings. Honorable Mentions also went to Nikki Doherty, Julia Hart, Kathleen McLaughlin, and Juliana Dolan.

The students would like to thank Mr. Biagioni for providing the pizza and tonic for their prandium (lunch).

National Etymology/ Civilization Exam

National Latin Exam

Because AC is a member of the National Junior Classics League and its Massachusetts Chapter, as well, AC students can compete in academic exams with thousands of other Latin students across the nation. In their exams our students more than hold their own; indeed, they won a number of medals and certificates as they have increased these awards each year. 2013/2014 is no exception. The first exam given in December was the Etymology Exam that drew upon a student's knowledge of both Latin and Greek root words taken into English.

Campus Ministry Happenings

The Arlington Catholic school community has had a great deal of activity in the Campus Ministry program during the second half of the year. The students and staff appreciate the importance of sharing their gifts and giving to others.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The students and staff of Arlington Catholic were very generous during the Christmas season by providing Christmas gifts to the clients at the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless. The school community became involved in “A Bed for Every Child” program by providing bed linens and stuffed animals for the project. No child in Massachusetts should have to worry about having a bed to sleep in at night. All of the gifts were beautifully wrapped and decorated. We hope that we have given some comfort to the poor in Massachusetts.

PILGRIMAGE FOR LIFE

During January, Campus Minister, Sister Barbara McHugh and Theology teacher Mr. Serge Clivio accompanied 19 students to the annual Pilgrimage for Life in Washington, DC. The Pilgrimage is held each year on the anniversary of Roe vs. Wade which legalized abortion in the United States. The Arlington Catholic contingent joined over 400 other students and chaperones from the Archdiocese of Boston. Cardinal Sean O’Malley joined the Boston delegation as well. The pilgrims braved snow and bitter cold weather to stand up and support the value of life. After the event, some students were asked to share their experiences with members of the Pro-Life group from St. Agnes Parish in Arlington. It was a privilege to travel to our nation’s capital in support of life.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

Catholic Schools Week is held each year throughout the nation during the last week of January. Communities of Faith, Knowledge and Service was used as the special theme for this school year. Arlington Catholic is a community where faith is encouraged and lived daily, knowledge is shared among students, teachers and staff, and service is at the heart of the mission of Arlington Catholic. The students led special prayers each day and Mr. Biagioni provided free bagels to the students on Student Appreciation Day. A luncheon was provided for teachers and staff in recognition of their care and dedication. We gratefully support Catholic education.

LENT

The students and staff participated in a special Prayer Service on Ash Wednesday. Father Brian Flatley, our Pastor, presided at the service. The students participated in the service as readers, musicians, and distributed ashes. Also during the Lenten season the students had opportunities to receive the Sacrament of Reconciliation. Father Flatley and Father Jack Graham graciously shared their time in giving students the chance to receive the sacrament. We are grateful for the ongoing support of Father Flatley and Father Jack in support of the Arlington Catholic school community.

BLOOD DRIVE

On April 8, the students and staff held an annual Blood Drive for the American Red Cross. Many students and staff donated blood and helped with the organization of the day. We have tried to instill in our students an understanding of the importance of donating blood on a regular basis. We were happy to help this very worthwhile organization.

WALK FOR HUNGER

The students of Arlington Catholic once again participated in the Greater Boston Walk for Hunger on Sunday, May 4. This walk has been an annual tradition at Arlington Catholic for more than 25 years beginning with former Principal, Sister Cathy Clifford. The students were happy to help the poor in Massachusetts.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE

The students of Arlington Catholic have been working very diligently completing Christian Service hours. All students are required to complete 60 hours of Christian Service before graduation. The Arlington Catholic students have been completing hours at hospitals, nursing homes, recreation centers, soup kitchens and the like. We encourage the students to understand the importance of giving back to others in thanksgiving for all the God has given to us.

ASCENSION THURSDAY

The students and staff joined in prayer at a liturgy for the Feast of the Ascension. As May is the special month dedicated to our Blessed Mother, we had the annual May Crowning during the Mass. We would like to thank senior, Michael Bonetti, for his participation in coordinating the May Crowning.

Retreats

It was an amazing year for the retreat program as we again ventured down the street, literally, to St. Raphael's in Medford for three great junior retreats. In addition to our successful junior program, we also offered a senior retreat at the Espousal Center in Waltham. This was a great way for our seniors to finish off their last days as an AC student. And lastly, we invited youth minister Scott Morin from IC in Malden to speak to our freshmen about the importance of community, before heading down to the newly refurbished pit for some games and fun. In all, the retreat program was able to offer spirituality and reflection to over 300 of our students. Thanks to all the teachers, administrators, staff, and of course the students themselves for their help, understanding, and dedication. Without all of them, it could have never succeeded. It truly was a very memorable year!

Humanitarians

in our Halls

started to grow. We investigated a service opportunity to another state and found the Romero Center in Camden, NJ. This April will have been our fourth trip to Camden to help serve the poor and needy of Camden, the poorest and one of the most crime-ridden cities in the U.S. Once students participate in this trip they cannot wait to return the next year. The AC Humanitarian Club now sponsors an American Cancer Society Relay for Life team and we have reached Bronze Level twice. Kerriane Conroy is a team captain. In order to fund some of our activities our current president Jenelle Cadigan suggested and brought into being our monthly Bake Sales. These are quite popular and they, along with Tag Days, bring in needed funds to support our efforts. Some of the money has gone to charities such as Superstorm Sandy relief, relief for the disaster in Haiti, and the American Heart Association, to name a few.

Other activities the club has participated in include collection of canned goods for the Arlington Food Bank, trips to the Greater Boston Food Bank, preparation and serving of lunch at Rosie's Place, and setting up and running Craft Days with the children of St. Agnes School. Last fall we took up a collection to meet the needs of the Northeast Animal Shelter. Recently we supported a local small bakery and decorated cookies to sell at our bake sale. We have made no-sew blankets for the overseas troops and have sent them Christmas cards. Every other month or so we participate in the Boston Sock Exchange. We join with parishioners of St. Agnes Church to help distribute food and clothing to the poor on Boston Common. We continue to investigate new ways in which to serve others and to fulfill our motto "People Helping People".

Since the club has grown in its activities and membership over the years it became more than just a club. These students embody the mission of the school and they "act justly, love tenderly, and walk humbly" with their God. They live out Catholic Social Teaching in many ways. Therefore, the Humanitarian Club is now the Social Outreach and Social Justice branch of the AC Campus Ministry program.

The students' enthusiasm, creativity, and energy give me renewed inspiration and they challenge me to be more than I thought I could be. It is a privilege and an honor to be the faculty advisor for this club.

Andrea M. Morrissey

about 6 years ago Marie Corea (Class of '09) and Linda Buehler (Class of '10) approached me to ask if I would be the faculty advisor for a new club they wanted to start. They wanted some sort of "action oriented" club that went out and did things to help the community at large. From the very beginning they, and other students, took charge of the events they were interested in getting involved in. They took on the recycling efforts at AC, whereby students signed up to be responsible for a classroom or office. Each week they empty the recycling bins and our "Recycling Director" oversees this whole project. Our directors include A.J. Chun (Class of '12) as well as our current director, Jackie Joyce. We have had meetings where we view documentaries on the environmental effects of mountain top removal in mining, as well as atrocities in Africa, and adolescent issues in the U.S. Students searched out opportunities to serve, such as the Charles River Cleanup and the "Halloween Town" event sponsored by local hospitals to raise funds for children's health. During this event Humanitarians helped play games and run events for the children who participated. Chris Laffey (Class of '12) took on the role of president after Linda and Marie graduated and the club

Reflections on the Humanitarian Club

JAKE FULTON

When posed with the prompt of uncovering what it means to be a humanitarian, my first thoughts were what it means to be a human. All humans have the rights to life, freedom, food, shelter, clean drinking water, and clothing, as the very basics. In a perfect world, all human beings would be ensured these rights; there would be no need to work for charity and social justice. To be a humanitarian means to provide these needs to those less fortunate as it is their right.

Joining the Arlington Catholic Humanitarian Club was one of the best decisions I have made throughout my course at AC. Shortly after joining at the beginning of my sophomore year, I threw myself out of my comfort zone, acquiring a different perspective of problems plaguing today's society, such as poverty, homelessness, and hunger. I have been fortunate to serve at such places as the Greater Boston Food Bank, the Boston Sock Exchange, and the Relay for Life of Arlington. Through all these experiences, I witnessed first hand the plights of those fighting hunger, homelessness, and cancer, respectively. Through each of these events, I was overjoyed to see the masses catering to the needs of those less fortunate. Through each of these events, the humanitarian spirit dwelling within me and those around me swelled. But even though each of these events made a difference, it is troubling to know that all the work of humanitarians is not enough to fulfill the rights of the needy.

Perhaps the greatest exercises of humanitarian values by the members of this club is the annual trip to the Romero Center in Camden, New Jersey. A little background on Camden: just East of Philadelphia, Camden is a city in southern New Jersey. According to the United States Census Bureau, Camden has a graduation rate of only 49%, a poverty rate soaring around 40%, and the highest crime rate in the nation, 560% higher than the national average. Situated in a hub of urban decay, crime, and poverty, the mission of the Romero Center's Urban Challenge is to introduce fortunate suburban people to the plight of Camden's people, through education about the city and active service in areas such as food banks, nursing homes, pre-schools, and other institutions. Each site I have served at over my two trips to Camden has instilled in me the very values of humanitarianism, that is, providing to the lacking what is their right.

To be a humanitarian is not only to provide charity and justice to those less fortunate, but also is to be a beacon of hope for the hopeless, the lost and forgotten in modern society. Throughout my membership in the Arlington Catholic Humanitarian Club, active participation in various services to those in need has given me the tools to continue to work for justice in our world throughout my life, and to invite others to join the humanitarian cause.

To be a humanitarian is not only to provide charity and justice to those less fortunate, but also is to be a beacon of hope for the hopeless, the lost and forgotten in modern society.

Reflections on the Humanitarian Club (Con't.)

JENELLE CADIGAN

As president of the Humanitarian Club for the past two years, and having been a member for the past four years, I have never been more proud or excited about the incredible group of members we have had for the 2013-2014 school year. Together, this year, through much fundraising efforts (and a LOT of baked goods), we have raised the most money in the history of the Humanitarian Club.

Our totals this year have helped us pay for our trips to the Greater Boston Food Bank and the Romero Center. In addition, they have also given us the ability to donate to other special programs, specifically the Northeast Animal Shelter and the American Cancer Society. On top of all of those activities, the Humanitarian Club has also thoughtfully sent Christmas cards and homemade blankets to our troops over the past couple of years.

We have all come such a long way, and I am extremely thankful to all of our members who volunteered their time to participate in these activities. The Humanitarian Club is a great way to stay involved, do community service, and give back to those in needs.

To me, being a Humanitarian means to give everyone the opportunity to enjoy their life, no matter how rough it may be. Feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, giving thanks and comfort to our soldiers, helping find a cure for cancer and supporting the survivors are all ways that our Humanitarians have cared for the wellness of others. As hectic and busy as the past two years have been, I am so thankful to have been a part of this amazing club and I encourage anyone who hasn't signed up in the past to do so.

I am proud to announce that Giuliana O'Connell will be next year's new president, and Jake Fulton will be next year's new vice president. In addition, Yoo Jung Hah will be the treasurer and Jin Young Je will be the recycling manager. I wish you all the best of luck and I hope you bring the club to new heights.

KARMEN LU

Being an AC humanitarian means helping others in our community. Through the Arlington Catholic Humanitarian Club, I have worked at a few Sock Exchanges at Boston Common. At these Sock Exchanges, we gave sandwiches, fruit, water, socks, mittens, and other everyday necessities to the less fortunate of Boston. I saw how giving some time to my community could make a difference. On those cold Saturday mornings, I realized a couple things. One was the fact that I only spent a few hours in the cold and had a warm home to return to afterwards. However, these less fortunate people had to spend the entire winter out in the cold. Another thing I realized was that I took all of the items we were passing out for granted. Having opportunities like these, I found a deeper appreciation for the life I have, the human relationships in my life, and how fortunate I am. Through the Humanitarian Club, I have seen the significant difference a few hours can make.

THE ART OF THE MINI ESSAY

Mrs. Lauren Dever gave her English IV students a writing challenge. They were to choose two of the following topics to write about, in very few words. Since space was limited, students were instructed to pay close attention to diction and overall style. Here are some of the results:

OPTION 1:

Your high school experience in 40 words

To mark your four years of high school please write a 40 word essay describing your experience at AC.

OPTION 2:

Hindsight is 20/20

Write a 60 word essay explaining what you would tell yourself as a freshman if you could go back in time.

OPTION 3:

The world as your classroom

Write a 30 word essay on the most powerful lesson you learned outside of the classroom during the last four years.

OPTION 4:

My wish for you...

Write a 50 word essay on the theme "what I wish for future generations of Arlington Catholic students" or "what I wish for Arlington Catholic."

OPTION 5:

My future...thanks to my past

Write a 60 word essay on the above theme- be as specific as possible.

My four years of high school were incredible. From freshman semi, to junior prom, football games to hockey games and all the other activities in between. High school was unforgettable thanks to Arlington Catholic.

– Julie Bowen

My future is looking bright as I am attending my first choice college next year. I can thank AC for giving me the ability to achieve this goal. All of my hard work has paid off and I can thank my teachers for showing me the way to success. I will always be a cougar at heart, but a pioneer next year.

– Jill Santini

I have really matured over the past four years and it is thanks to my experiences at AC. I have learned that it doesn't matter how many friends you have, but rather what matters is if you have the right friends.

– Matt Martel

I have never felt more of a sense of community than at AC. From Friday night football games to school masses, I actually felt a part of something meaningful. Three words will stay with me forever: "We are AC."

– Angela Pappalardo

High school has been awesome. My interaction with others as well as with teachers has provided me not only with a classroom education, but also and undoubtedly wisening experience. Although I haven't met everyone, the people I've met will be remembered.

– Daniel Kwolek

Accept the challenge. Arlington Catholic was more than just a challenge. It was an experience that lasted four years. It was friends and memories that will last a lifetime. It was ever-changing, ever entertaining. It will be remembered forever.

– Sarah Hanley

Arts Night at the Regent Underground

The outside of The Regent Theatre Underground can be deceiving: it doesn't look like AC turf – no blue and gold, no lockers, no hallowed halls, athletic banners, or gymnasium acoustics here. But inside ... it's undeniably AC: joyful voices, music, art, color, creativity, and impromptu sing-a-longs. Your descent into the Underground for Arts Night on May 7th was worth it. Art everywhere! Recycled water bottles and aluminum cans bloomed into bold flowers or surfaced as sea creatures; ceramic, papier mache, water color, paint, charcoal drew you into the intimate, friendly space. The event featured art from students in Art I, Painting & Drawing, Design, Sculpture, Visual Arts Studio and Photography Club, and was punctuated with presentations from the Drama Club and Choir. Throughout the evening, guests and artists mingled, contributing together to the Art Department's 'What is Art?' mural project, enjoying refreshments and of course the good company. Thanks to all who participated and attended, your support of the Arts as AC is appreciated!

Art Awards

Michaela Knight has been selected to attend Art All-State

Congratulations to Michaela Knight '15 on her acceptance into this year's Art All-State!

The Worcester Art Museum hosts Art All-State one weekend a year, for talented Juniors, nominated by their Art teachers. Art All-State provides the opportunity for high school Juniors to meet their peers, work with professional artists, learn about post secondary art training, and investigate art careers. Art All-State is designed to foster high caliber art education for the young people of Massachusetts by matching students with professional artists to create large-scale artworks inspired by the Museum's collection. Through gallery and studio experiences AAS challenges and inspires these participants to think creatively about themselves and the role that art can play in life after high school. Eight studio groups are each lead by two professional artists, who help facilitate the students in the creative process. The artists, who come from a variety of different art disciplines, also act as mentors for the student participants. We can't wait to hear and see how it goes, Michaela!

Boston Globe Scholastic Art Award Winners

Congratulations to Lydia Genard 14' whose Sculpture, two individual photographs, and entire Art Portfolio won Gold Keys in the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards!

Her works, along with other Silver and Gold Key winners' pieces were exhibited at Boston City Hall in March. The Scholastic Art & Writing Awards, now presented by the nonprofit Alliance for Young Artists & Writers, not only celebrate the rich future of artistic America, but also document its past. The program has been credited with identifying early talent in generations of America's cultural icons, including Truman Capote (1932), Richard Avedon (1941), Andy Warhol (ca. 1945), Sylvia Plath (1947), Robert Redford (1954) and Zac Posen (1998), each of whom won the award when they were in high school.

It's Not You, It's Me

This year's submission to the Massachusetts High School Drama Festival was directed by junior, Alyssa Cunha. While no newcomer to the stage (Alyssa has performed in numerous theatrical productions here at AC), Festival 2014 was her first experience directing. The one act play, "It's Not You, It's Me" by Dan Zolidis, provided students with a chance to exercise their comedic chops. Student actors, James Cordero and Isabelle Tumblin, recognized for their stand-out performances, were named to the all-star company comprised of students from eight participating high schools.

Scholar Athletes must achieve a letter for at least two years in two separate Varsity sports in addition to being the highest ranking student in competition.

SCHOLAR ATHLETES

Jennifer Corso and Allen Judd

Jennifer Corso has made the most of her four years at Arlington Catholic High School. Taking the easy path is not part of her makeup. Jen has excelled in the classroom throughout high school, having achieved First or Second Honors each quarter of her high school career; this achievement is amplified by the fact that she has taken multiple honors courses since freshman year, and currently challenges herself with five Advanced Placement courses. Fittingly, Jen is a member of both the Spanish National Honor Society and AC's chapter of the National Honor Society.

Along with carrying an intense academic workload, Jennifer has distinguished herself athletically as well. A four-year varsity starting goalie for the Girls' Soccer team, Jennifer capped off a strong career with a highly decorated senior season. As captain, Jen led her team to the state tournament, and was voted as the team's MVP and Sportsmanship Award winner. Her accomplishments were further recognized by her selection as both a CCL All-Star and an Eastern Mass All-Star.

On the court, Jennifer was an integral part of AC's highly successful Girls' Basketball program. A three-year varsity member, Jen played on the 2012 league championship team and helped anchor the 2014 Division 2 State Championship squad.

Jennifer is undecided about her college plans at this time, but will attend either Boston University or Bentley University in the fall.

Throughout her academic and athletic career at AC, Jen Corso has personified the belief that, through hard work and determination, great things can be achieved!

Few students have left such an impressive mark at Arlington Catholic than Allen Judd. Allen has embraced AC's motto of "Accept the Challenge" with full vigor both academically and athletically. His transcript reflects his academic strengths, having taken all honors level and AP level courses since freshman year, and achieving A's in virtually every subject he has studied. Allen is a decorated Classics student, receiving awards and commendations from the National Latin, Roman, and Classics exams. He has immersed himself in extracurricular activities such as Science Club, SADD, Model UN and the Yearbook staff. His contributions and work ethic, both in and out of the classroom, are exemplary.

Allen's athletic achievements are equally impressive. He has played four different sports in his time at AC, and has distinguished himself in Cross Country, Track, and Tennis. Allen has been voted a CCL All-Star twice in Cross Country, and has had a great deal of success during his indoor seasons.

In Tennis, Allen has been a dominant force in the CCL, having been voted League MVP as a sophomore and as a junior. Most importantly, he has been voted by his peers as a three-year captain, a rare feat that demonstrates his leadership and the respect garnered through his hard work and commitment to his sport.

Allen is the embodiment of "scholar-athlete," and his accomplishments will be ultimately recognized as the Valedictorian of AC's Class of 2014. He will further his education at Harvard University in the fall.

The Woman and Gentleman Athletes are nominated by their coaches and chosen by the faculty and staff of AC with the criteria being that the athlete conduct themselves with dignity and class, both on and off the playing field.

GENTLEWOMAN AND GENTLEMAN ATHLETES

Maura Buckley and Nicholas Iudiciani

Maura Buckley has been chosen to receive the 2014 Gentlewoman Athlete Award. Maura's excellent academic work is reflected in her superb GPA and her membership in both the National Spanish Honor Society and the National Honor Society. For her entire high school career she has been a member of the Varsity Soccer and Basketball Teams, serving as soccer captain her senior year and as a basketball captain in her junior and senior years. She has been named a CCL All-Star several times and is an inspiration to her teammates as well. Maura has also been a member of the Spanish and Campus Ministry Clubs, and has also played AAU Basketball outside of school. Maura will be attending Worcester Polytechnic Institute in the fall and is sure to continue to have great success, we wish her well.

Nicholas Iudiciani has been chosen to receive the 2014 Gentleman Athlete Award. A four-year member of the Baseball and Basketball teams at AC, Nick has helped his teams to the postseason several times. His transcript reflects many honors and AP courses where he was able to earn high grades while participating in sports and extracurricular activities, including National Honor Society, the Spanish/World Language Club and the Debate Club. Nick has been an asset to the Arlington Catholic community we wish him the best of luck and continued academic and athletic success.

Girls Basketball

For the second time in four years, the Girls Basketball team won the Division 2 State Championship! After a great regular season, the girls entered the Division 2 North Tournament beating Pentucket and Bedford allowing them to meet Watertown in the Division 2 North Finals. After a great game, they beat Watertown which brought them to the Boston Garden where they beat a tough Duxbury Team. They finally arrived at the Division 2 State Final to play Longmeadow High School for the Championship. After a slow start, the Cougars came back in overtime to beat Longmeadow by a score of 43-35.

The girls were awarded beautiful pendants and plaques to commemorate their championship season.

Krystle Campbell Memorial Tournament

DAN SHINE 500TH WIN

The boys Hockey team had a great season to celebrate. In addition to making the tournament, Coach Dan Shine won his 500th game! Coach Shine has been coaching the boys ice hockey team since 1978, and during his tenure won 8 CCL Titles, the 1990 Division 2 State Championship, the 1997 Super 8 Tournament and the 2010 Division 1 State Championship. Additionally, since Mr. Shine has been Athletic Director at AC, the school has won 109 CCL Championships in 17 Varsity Sports as well as 10 State Championships in Football, Boys Ice Hockey, Girls Ice Hockey, Boys Basketball, and Girls Basketball!

Coach Dan Shine won his 500th game!

1,000 POINT CLUB

Maura Buckley wrapped up a great year of basketball. Not only did her team win the State Championship, Maura has been added to the list of 18 Arlington Catholic graduates (11 of whom are women) who have scored over 1,000 points in their basketball careers with 1,041 points!

COACH BRADY 300TH WIN

The girls basketball team had yet another reason to celebrate this year – Coach Dave Brady won his 300th game! Coach Brady has been the girls basketball coach here for 22 years! In that time, he has won 7 CCL titles and 2 state championships! Congrats to Coach Brady!

Return to the Garden

THIRD TRIP TO THE GARDEN

While the Girls Ice Hockey Team has racked up their fair share of State Championship Hockey Teams, the one thing they had not won, until this past season, was a CCL title. After another fantastic season, the girls finally delivered on the one thing they had yet to accomplish as a team, a Catholic Central League Title. But they did not stop there, the Cougars followed those wins with a third trip to the Garden in as many years. They lost a tough game to a fantastic Duxbury squad, but hopefully will make a fourth trip to the Garden next year and come home with the trophy.

Saint Agnes School Hall of Fame

As part of the 125th Anniversary that Saint Agnes School is celebrating this year, they inducted four inaugural members into their Hall of Fame. Arlington Catholic is proud that three of those four members are also Arlington Catholic Alumni! So, a heartfelt congratulations goes out to Saint Agnes School for their 125 years of success, as well as congratulations to Charlie Keefe '69, Ed Woods '73 and Betty (Papagni) Lally '74. In addition to being AC Alums, we are also blessed to have Betty Lally as a member of the Arlington Catholic High School staff.

Here is an excerpt from Betty's acceptance speech that we would like to share with you:

"I am proud and humbled to be standing here in front of you tonight. I want to acknowledge my family, friends and colleagues here tonight. I feel very blessed to have my husband and family here (most of whom are also alumni of St. Agnes and Arlington Catholic) and I am so grateful for their love and support.

I would like to especially recognize my parents for which I am so happy to be able to share this with them tonight. They have taught me the importance of family, friendship, values and my Catholic beliefs. My Catholic education was indeed a privilege and wonderful gift from them. The values and faith they taught me at home were reinforced every day at school. St. Agnes was the place that I thrived spiritually, socially and academically because it instilled Catholic values, beliefs and traditions while receiving a quality education.

I have been lucky enough to experience St. Agnes as a student and a parent as well as an employee of the parish. After graduating from St. Agnes I traveled across the street to Arlington Catholic and then on to Aquinas College. I was taught by the Sisters of St. Joseph for 14 years and they definitely have played an important role in shaping me to become the person I am today. While sometimes I may have considered the rules of Catholic education as "strict", these rules served as guidelines and I truly believe that they have helped to strengthen my principles and encouraged me to make good decisions. Arlington Catholic is only a few short steps away from St. Agnes and it was a bridge for me to continue my Catholic education and spiritual growth.

As the Guidance secretary at Arlington Catholic, I actively participate in nurturing and mentoring high school students. Some of my favorite activities and programs that I am involved in include the Drama Club, the Cougar Cub program, leading junior retreats, making Origami Cranes for graduation, hockey cheerleading coach, and most importantly, helping incoming freshmen students feel welcomed at AC. I also want to add that I have recently become involved with Brigham and Women's Hospital knitting hats for inner city children. This has become a most rewarding experience especially when I received a personalized "thank you" note from a young boy for his hand made hat and a picture of him wearing it with the biggest smile on his face. I credit St. Agnes School and Arlington Catholic for developing my personal character with the foundation for doing for others.

Lastly, but certainly not the least, I also want to acknowledge all the parents I have had the pleasure to interact and become friends with as a parent at St. Agnes because their sacrifices, dedication and their spirit of volunteerism have also contributed to the prosperity of the school and our children. So, to all of you, I share this award.

Honoring Our Sisters

As we celebrate 50 years of graduates from Arlington Catholic, we do so with a recommitment to the mission of Arlington Catholic. That mission, founded by the Sisters of Saint Joseph, promises to educate and challenge young men and women academically, spiritually, and socially in a caring, supportive environment, in order to prepare them to be life-long learners and contributors, who are committed to a just society. It continues to be an important part of the Arlington Catholic mission and legacy of the Sisters of Saint Joseph to keep the cost of tuition reasonable for families while maintaining excellence in all areas of the school.

As we celebrate the 140th Anniversary of the Sisters of Saint Joseph of Boston, we found a way to permanently recognize those whose backbone this school was built upon – the Sisters of Saint Joseph, the teachers and spiritual leaders of Arlington Catholic for over 50 years. As you know, the Sisters started this school and made it flourish, they also were the seeds that inspired and nourished thousands of young minds.

Many of our alums would not be who they are without the support, guidance and dedication of these nuns, and this school certainly would not be what it is without them.

On March 16th, we dedicated this new display at Arlington Catholic. The day began with a Mass of celebration at Saint Agnes Church, followed by a reception and dedication ceremony at Arlington Catholic. Father Flatley presided over the Mass and led the dedication ceremony, along with Sister Rosemary Brennan, the current President of the Sisters of Saint Joseph of Boston. Many of the Sisters of Saint Joseph attended the ceremony, including Sister Frances Agnes Blake, who was one of the first Faculty members at AC!

The Arlington Catholic Human Rights Club invited Veronica Carlino, Class of 2003, to address the topic of “Values, Justice and the Law”. Veronica is currently an Assistant District Attorney for Middlesex County. After graduating from Suffolk University, summa cum laude, Veronica attended New England School of Law where she received her J.D., cum laude. A group of more than forty students gathered in the library after school to hear Veronica’s presentation. Veronica talked about how her education at Arlington Catholic fueled her passion for social justice issues and helped her discover her talent for public speaking and debate. Her intellect, passion, and warmth of personality impressed all those who were present. Veronica had the students debrief a famous case that addressed the moral complexities involved in administering justice. With Veronica’s encouragement, the students asked thought-provoking questions that stimulated debate and discussion. Veronica also fielded general questions about the nature of law school and her work as an Assistant District Attorney. We are so proud of Veronica’s accomplishments. Her desire to make a meaningful contribution to society through her commitment to intellectual rigor, moral courage, justice and compassion embodies the spirit of Arlington Catholic. Some of the students who attended the presentation share their comments below:

“She clearly explained how her high school choices changed who she was and led her to a career in the law...Personally, I am very interested in the law and aspire to be in a similar position as Ms. Carlino...This was an eye-opening experience that influenced the way I’ll think of my future.”

-- Sarah Reis '15

“She taught me about the fundamental interest lawyers have in helping people, and presented an interesting view on moral problems’

--Elizabeth McCall '15

“She was inspiring in that she used to be shy but now is a prominent woman. Her enthusiasm for what she does was the most impressive aspect”

--Greg Hub '15

“We discussed many topics and every point was more in depth than the last. Ms. Carlino’s presentation was very entertaining and made me consider becoming an attorney like her.”

--Sam Jennings '15

Reunion News

Faculty News

During the past academic year Arlington Catholic lost three former CJS's who served the school in several capacities. Sister Peggy Lowell for many years ran the "Teens Serving the Elderly" program at St. Agnes Parish which gave Arlington Catholic students the opportunity to volunteer in working with seniors in the neighborhood. Sister Margaret Concannon was an English teacher for a number of years and took care of Junior Homeroom 301. In addition, after retiring from full time teaching, Sr. Margaret helped out in Arlington Catholic's library. Most recently, Sister Marie Doyle (Sr. Mary Candida) passed away. Sister taught Chemistry and Theology at AC and was a very outgoing and engaging person, well beloved by her students and peers alike. May they all rest in peace.

On a more uplifting note, Arlington Catholic congratulates Sister Connie Cusianna who just celebrated her Golden Jubilee as a Sister of St. Joseph of the Albany, New York Province. Sister was a popular history teacher here over a span of years and is now enjoying her retirement out in Latham, New York.
